Does this Privacy Statement apply to you?

This Privacy Statement applies to you if you are an Employee (applicant, intern or employee) of Enza Zaden.

Why and on which legal basis does Enza Zaden process personal data?

Enza Zaden collects, processes, and stores personal data of Employees in connection with following human resources activities:

Recruitment administration and assessments:

Enza Zaden processes personal data of job applicants for the purpose of assessing possible candidates for Enza Zaden vacancies. The following categories of data may be processed:

- Contact information such as your name, address, e-mail address and phone number.
- Personal information such as your age, gender, date and place of birth, nationality.
- Job application details such as your resume, motivation letter, references, scholar information and, where appropriate for a specific position, a certificate of conduct or other relevant documents such as an assessment to support the application.

You may decide yourself to share specific personal data with Enza Zaden in the course of your application, such as your picture and details about your hobbies and activities in your free time. By sharing such data, which potentially could reveal special types of data, such as your religious beliefs or political persuasions, you give your consent to the processing of these data by Enza Zaden. Please note that you are free to withdraw your consent at any time as explained further below in this Privacy Statement (see under What rights can you exercise in relation to your personal data?).

In addition to information provided directly by you Enza Zaden may collect recruitment- related personal information and reports from third parties such as recruiters, background check companies, assessment companies, government authorities, former employers and references you provide. Enza Zaden may also collect personal information from publicly accessible sources with professional intent such as public social media profiles on LinkedIn.

The legal basis for processing personal data of candidates is that processing is necessary to fulfill Enza Zaden's legitimate interest in hiring the most qualified applicants.

Employee Management

Enza Zaden processes personal data of Employees for the purpose of;

- Employee and payroll administration, e.g. administering salaries, compensation and benefits, payments, processing salary slips, submission of PAY tax declarations, tax issues and providing an insight to travelling costs and expenses. The following categories of data may be processed:
 - Contact information such as your name, address, e-mail address and phone number.
 - Personal information such as your age, gender, date and place of birth, nationality, marital status, partner and children, your ID number and your bank account number.

What measures does Enza Zaden take to protect your personal data?

Enza Zaden has taken appropriate technical and organizational measures to protect your personal data against accidental or unlawful processing, including by ensuring that:

- your personal data is protected against unauthorized access;
- the confidentiality of your personal data is assured;
- the integrity and availability of your personal data will be maintained;
- personnel is trained in information security requirements;
- Actual or suspected data breaches are reported in accordance with applicable law.

Where does Enza Zaden store or transfer your personal data?

The personal data we collect from you may be processed outside the RSA. Due to the international nature of our business and the services to our clients, Enza Zaden may transfer information, including limited personal data of Employees to locations outside the RSA. It may also be processed by staff operating outside the RSA who work for one of our affiliated companies. Specifically, your data may be transferred to the countries where our business, clients and suppliers are located.

In any case, where we transfer personal data outside the RSA, Enza Zaden shall ensure that such a transfer is subject to appropriate safeguards. In most cases, such transfer will be governed by a contract based on the model contractual clauses for data transfer as defined in POPI and GDPR.

What rights can you exercise in relation to your personal data?

You can exercise a number of rights in relation to your personal data, which are explained below. In each case, please use the contact details below if you would like to exercise any of your rights. Note that in many cases, your rights are not absolute and we may not be required to comply with your request.

Right of access

You are entitled to a copy of the personal information we hold about you and to learn details about how we use it. Your personal data will usually be provided to you digitally.

Right to rectification

We take reasonable steps to ensure that the information we hold about you is accurate and complete. However, if you do not believe this is the case, you can ask us to update or amend it.

Right to erasure

In certain circumstances, you have the right to ask us to erase your personal information, for example, where the personal information we collected is no longer necessary for the original purpose or where you withdraw your consent. However, this will need to be balanced against other factors. For example, we may not be able to comply with your request due to certain legal or regulatory obligations. Please see Enza Zaden's data retention policy, as published on Enzaplaza, for more information.

Right to restriction of processing

In certain circumstances, you are entitled to ask us to (temporarily) stop using your personal information, for example, where you think that the personal information we hold about you may be inaccurate or where you think that we no longer need to use your personal information.

Right to data portability

In certain circumstances, you have the right to ask that we transfer personal information that you have provided to us to a third party of your choice.

Right to object

You have the right to object to processing which is based on our legitimate interests. Unless we have a compelling legitimate ground for the processing, we will no longer process the personal data on that basis when you file an objection. Note however, that we may not be able to provide certain services or benefits if we are unable to process the necessary personal data for that purpose.

Rights relating to automated decision-making

You have the right not to be subjected to automated decision-making, including profiling, which produces legal effect for you or has a similar significant effect. Enza Zaden does not apply automated decision-making.

Right to withdraw consent

We may ask for your consent to process your personal data in specific cases as further explained in this Privacy Statement. When we do this, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. Enza Zaden will stop the further processing from the moment of withdrawal of your consent. However, this does not affect the lawfulness of the processing before consent was withdrawn.

We will respond to your request and provide you information on any action taken or reasons for not taking action within one month after receipt of your written request. This period may be extended with two months taking into account the complexity and number of requests. We shall inform you regarding such delay within one month after receipt of your request.

What if I have other questions or complaints?

Questions or complaints regarding the processing of your personal information should be directed to your local HR representative.

Alternatively, you can send your questions or complaints to Matome Ramokgopa (general manager): privacy@enzazaden.com

Updates to this Privacy Statement

Enza Zaden may update this Privacy Statement from time to time and in case an amendment will have serious impact on Employees, Enza Zaden will actively inform them about such amendment. Enza Zaden will publish an up-to-date Privacy Statement on the website at all times, indicating the latest amendments including a time stamp.
